THE DAILY AVALANCHE

General McClellan says he writes that he expects to return home by the 25th instant.

The yellow fever mortality in New Orleans, for the first eleven days of this month, was 644.

The gross receipts of the Metropolitan Theatre, in this city, for September, were $4,662.

Mrs. John Dean, nee Boker, is about to institute a suit for libel against a Washington daily; damages, $50,000.

Buffalo bankers and brokers have got about fifteen thousand dollars of the bogus seven-twenties so far.

Mint julep goes by the name of "spotted ale," with the fair ones of Memphis who say they take a drop at the dressmaker's. Whisky straight is "gingham flounced."

The President has upon the recommendation of Governor Parsons and Attorney General Stanbery, pardoned Samuel Barron, of Virginia, ex-Commodore of the Confederate navy.

A cable telegram announces the death on the 14th, at Glasgow, Scotland, of John A. Duplop, one of the oldest, wealthiest and most prominent tobacco operators of Louisville.

It is estimated that one-tenth of the entire number of prisoners and soldiers at the Dry Tortugas have died of yellow fever. They were sent there like the fellow who came home to die.

A party, consisting of men, women and children, to the number of 250, will leave Boston the present month, to settle near Netawaka, on the Kickapoo reservation, Kansas.

A rumor was current in New York on the 15th that one of the employes in a bank in the Bowery absconded with $100,000, though on inquiry being made at the place in question, no one knew anything about the report.

The Pennsylvania Legislature will stand follows: Senate, twenty Democrats and thirteen Democrats; House of Representatives, fifty-four Republicans and forty-six Democrats; Republican majority on joint ballot, fifteen.

Late advices from Montana say that two companies of mounted militia, under Captain Hughes, had deserted. It is supposed they intend depredating on the road between Montana and Colorado. One thousand dollars is offered for the capture of Captain Hughes.

The Radical Republicans of New York city, on Monday night, nominated Joshua G. Abbe and Major L. Haggerty, for the offices of Sheriff and County Clerk, respectively. The balance of the county ticket was not nominated, the convention breaking up at midnight amid the greatest confusion.

A meeting of Republicans was held in the Twelfth Ward, Philadelphia, on Monday evening. General Grant and Secretary Stanton were nominated for the Presidency and Vice Presidency, and a large Grant flag was formed. This would indeed be the mouth and the stanton pipe.

Detective Baker has been served with an attachment directed to be issued by the House on the last day of the July session for contempt, in not obeying the summons of the Committee. He will answer at the bar of the House at the coming session of Congress.

The order of General Wilcox, in Virginia, forbidding the consolidation of the Virginia and Tennessee, and Norfolk and Petersburg railroads, under the presidency of the rebel General Mahone, has been canceled by an adjustment of the difficulty. The order of Wilcox forbade the consolidation until the amount due the Government was paid.

The exact amount of the defalcation of J. J. Conklin, the cashier of the National Bank at New Milford, Connecticut, is ascertained to be $48,344 28. The bank has a surplus account of $22,758 12, and the property of J. J. Conklin, from which it will realize at least $6,186 71—making in all $86,944 83—leaving the capital stock, $125,000 unimpaired, except to the amount of $43,000—or about one per cent, which will be made up by the passage of two dividends.

The Chicago Times dwells upon the loss of the German vote by the Republicans in the late elections, and observes that, as slavery no longer exists in this country, the free-thinking Germans will gradually drift back to the Democratic party, which they left because they hated slavery. This, the Times contends, they will do because the Democracy are with the Germans in opposition to Sunday laws and prohibitory liquor laws, and in advocacy of the largest social liberty.

The Cincinnati Commercial (Radical) thus rops its colaborers on the knuckles: "When we consider the short time that the Republican party has been in power, the development of professional office-seekers in it is something wonderful." But regardless of the injunction of Dogberry, that "comparisons are odorous," it says: "It is about as bad as the Democratic party was when it had fattened and rioted on the spoils of office for twenty years." What they say is pressing as the twenty years' claimants should be reinstated, and the "short time" fellows be sent to con over their lesson?

Boston gossips appear to have settled it, among themselves at least, that the separation between Senator Sumner and his wife will be wider than the ocean that rolls between them. They say the case resembles that of Judah P. Benjamin, whose wife took early refuge in Europe, greatly to the "relief" of New Orleans, some years ago. Furthermore, that if the reasons urged against Sumner could be averaged, there might be two happier matrimonial households. Boston gossips should not be so impertinent with connubial secrets. It is bad enough when such things find their way into the courts the legitimate end for that which commences in courting.

The spirit of Wilkes Booth has informed a Brooklyn spiritualist that he is having a good time in the other world with St. Paul and St. Peter, the former of whom he knows very well. He complains that Michael keeps him pretty close in heaven—or wherever he is. That ought to be tolerably conclusive that he is not still in the land of the living, and put at rest doubts or his identity; although the persistent refusal to give up his remains to his friends for sepulture tends to divide the public mind on the subject, and rather countenances the idea that fraud has been practiced. What good can come out of keeping pards, the carcass of the assassin, from which the vitality is gone? Is it not rather in the way of punishing the innocent living for the offense of the dead?

The Jerome Park races commenced on the afternoon of the 15th. There was a very large attendance. The hurdle race for all ages, one and three-fourths miles, over six hurdles, was won by Julius Tyson coming in second. Leatherjumper, Zaro, Red Bird and Negrita also ran. The latter fell and threw her rider heavily. Time, 3:35½. The handicap, for all ages, one and one-fourth mile, was won by Leatherjumper, Local being second. Red Wing and Clement each won a heat. General McMahon won two heats and the race. Time, 1:46½. Last heat, 1:53½. In the fourth race, which was a sweepstakes for two-year olds, Rooster beat Northumberland. Time, 1:52.

The Cairo Democrat thus pays its address to the Illinois State Journal, which says: "Everywhere the Republicans have rolled up their old majorities"—referring to Indiana, which had no State officers to elect, but only county elections: "Why, man, commence at the mouth of the Wabash, and follow the Ohio up to the mouth of the great Miami, and you will scarcely find a township that does not present decided Democratic gains. In Vandeburg county the whole pack of Radical cormorants have been driven away from the county crib, and sound, exemplary Democrats put in their places. Spencer county turned out her Radical officers and put in Democrats. Posey and Warwick rolled up increased Democratic majorities—but we need not indulge in details. The lie is almost too palpable to require even general contradiction."

THURSDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES.

Henry A. Wise to the Youth of Virginia.

Grant Nominated for the Presidency in New York.

The Southern Railroads and the Governor.

An Early Adjustment Promised.

WASHINGTON, October 17—The sub-committee of the House of Representatives to inquire into the past and present relations of the Southern railroads with the Government, and what would be fair and equitable in adjusting the matter, left here this afternoon for Richmond to-morrow morning, where they will remain for several days, thence proceed by way of Lynchburg to Knoxville, at which latter place they will meet Governor Brownlow; go from Richmond to Charleston, thence by way of Macon to Atlanta. The sub-committee consists of Representatives McClurg, chairman; General Blunt; Ex-Governor Yorke, Dodge of Iowa, and others. In this week's work will be pushed forward vigorously. The survey, ing party under Major Beach started for Fort Gibson to-day, to enervate the work on that part of the road.

NEW YORK, October 17.—A special says Henry A. Wise made the address at the opening of the Horticultural and Pomological Society of Virginia in Richmond, on night, its object, of course broached mainly on the present political situation; but the most remarkable portion of them consisted of advice to the young men of the State to become citizens of the United States, and to welcome Northern and European emigrants.

An immense gathering of Republicans took place at the Cooper Institute, last evening, to ratify the nomination of the Chicago Radical lunatics. Speeches were made by several prominent leaders, in which Grant was hailed as the candidate of that party for the Presidency in 1868.

At a meeting of the Metropolitan Revenue Board, yesterday, a resolution was passed directing the district attorney to bond all distilleries now under seizure, if the owners of them belong to the distillers' association, called "Whisky Trustees," otherwise while holding the premises under the bond pending the further decision of the cases of the Metropolitan fine. The Department ordered a tax collector, inspector, gauger, storekeeper, chief engineer, and proportionate sums on the employes of the Department, to defray the expenses of the Republican party at the next State election.

Senator Morgan has obtained the consent of Secretary McCulloch to leave Caldcott's vacancy, in the Brooklyn revenue district, unsupplied until that gentleman's trial takes place. A man who is posted in revenue matters, says there are six hundred illicit distilleries in full operation in that district.

To pay the interest on the five-twenty bonds which falls due on the 1st of November, twenty-three millions in coin will be required at New York. There will be $1,742,951 of it disbursed.

There were 22,270 voters registered in New York yesterday, making the total registration for two days 70,114.

NEW YORK, October 17—10 a. m.—Gold opened at 143, advanced to 143½, and is now 143¾. Cotton quiet, but steady; uplands 19½c. Exchange 109@109½.

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN.

Mme Sophie Despau—Her Connection With a Celebrated Will Case.

The death of Madame Sophie Despau, nee Carriere Biloxi, at the advanced age of one hundred and ten years, has added another feature of interest to what the United States Supreme Court has decided to be the most remarkable suit ever brought to trial in this country. Madame Despau was born in 1757, when Louisiana was held by France, of an aristocratic family, and became prominent in remembered in connection with that of her sister Zulime Carriere.

It was while under Madame Despau's care that Zulime, when thirteen years of age, (1780,) and already celebrated in this city for her beauty, was married to Des Grange, a French nobleman, who soon after subsided into a barkeeper or syrup maker. Some years after Des Grange proved to have been already married, and about this time the first duel-ment sprung up between her and Daniel Clark, the Congressman, the land speculator and foremost business man of his time. The circumstances resulted in a marriage, according to Madame Sophie Despau and another sister, and according to all, in the birth of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines.

Mme. Despau, in her evidence in the Gaines case, testified that she was present when the marriage ceremony was performed in Philadelphia—present with a third sister —and it was upon their evidence that the alleged ceremony rested, for the priest who officiated subsequently went to Ireland, the church was burned down and the records destroyed, etc. What added still more to the complication of the case was that Zulime Carriere de Des Grange Clark was subsequently united to Dr. Gardette, and this during the lifetime of Clark.

As Mrs. Gaines' legitimacy depended upon the validity of Clark's marriage, the stain of the whole case turned upon the evidence of Mme. Despau. To test her veracity, the evidence of some thirty-five witnesses were taken, who had known her while residing in this city, in Biloxi, Havana, Florida and Spanish America. But the answers were in her favor, and in the interpretation given of the bewildering facts of this case by the last decision of the Supreme Court, her statements were taken as correct; and an estate now valued at $18,000,000 was adjudicated to her nieces, Mrs. Gaines; adjudicated fifty years after the death of Clark, and with, thirty after the commencement of the suit, after appeals to the Supreme Court, and when the original suit had been divided into five hundred separate actions against subsequent possessors of Clark's estate.

Madame Despau, though living for more than a century, and though involved three-fourths of that period in the troubles of her niece, outlived her by all the 24 days of the termination of the suit; and, save $15,000 of the contested estate yielded by Mr. Slidell during the recent war, none of the contested property has yet been recovered by its life long claimant.—N. O. Times, 20th ult.

Mountain Boy and Dexter.

From the New York News, October 5.

Mr. McLaughlin, the trainer of Mountain Boy, believes that his horse is the fastest trotter in the world. He is about to be withdrawn from the turf this season, but we are authorized to state that within the next two weeks he is ready to trot Dexter, or any other horse, without stakes, the money taken on the track to be given to any charitable institution that the owner may designate.

The purpose that our object in this race is to induce Mr. Bonner to test the speed of Dexter, in actual competition with a rival, as he has refused to trot him for money.

The challenge is best three in five, mile heats, in harness, within two weeks fourthly day.

It is worthy of note that Mountain Boy is but a seven year old colt, and of course has not yet attained his maximum speed.

The claims of Southern loyalists for captured cotton, which were allowed by the Court of Claims, have been adjudicated and paid. They amounted to a hundred thousand dollars, instead of several millions, as first stated.

FROM THE COUNTRY.

Rejoicings Over the Recent Elections—A State Convention Suggested, Etc.

TRENTON, October 12, 1867.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: I throw my hat up higher than I have been able to toss it in four years. The truth is I feel good all over. Just think of Ohio! Think of Ohio and Ben Wade! I heard Ben at Memphis, when he was "dined and wined" there last winter. He then thought he was a conservative, and most of the Southern people thought so too. I the "rooted" at that ever memorable dinner, and he gave it "Confed-rebs" to understand that if we did not do as he and his Congress desired, worse would come. Well, for him and his Congress that "worse" has come. And for this I have been throwing up my hat, very high, for a day or so past. Do find out by some means and send me what Barbara Hawks thinks and what Jim Hall has to say about it. Also, Bob Smith & Co. think; and especially what that "beautiful boy" Beaumont thinks and how he feels. You used to have a way of getting at their secrets and I am curious—way, exceedingly curious—to know what these fellows think and feel since Pennsylvania and Ohio have rebuked Radicalism and its minions in such thunder tones. I am also curious to know what Brownlow's appointees, judges, clerks, commissioners, etc., think and feel about these recent elections. Sheridan went to Texas, and was far enough to think the people of that city for their approval of his policy in ruling the people of New Orleans. The little puffed-up knave did not seem to think it was of any importance to have the approval of the very people he had been ruling. So, perhaps, Brownlow's appointees may think it of no moment as to what the citizens of Tennessee may think of their acts, if the people of the North shall approve them. Brownlow evidently has more pride in the approval of his negro constituency than in the approval of the whites of the State; and this may be the case with all his officials. Like the Radicals of the North, they seem to have thought there was no "people" in the United States, but Northern Radicals and Southern niggers, but the thunder from Ohio has rudely awakened them from their delightful dream. Johnson's triumph in Maine, the sober, second thoughts of the people, seems almost sublime, as their united voices speak from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Iowa; and, if the judicial opinion touching the infamous franchise law of this State had to be again pronounced, it would be given as it was first written, against its constitutionality. The hand writing is on the wall; and Brownlow and his crew are fearfully alarmed by it. The vote in this State, last August, was about 90,000; of this number Brownlow got 70,000, and Etheridge 20,000. I do not give the exact figures, but am not wrong more than one or two thousand. In the aggregate, of the 70,000 votes for Brownlow, at least 45,000 were niggers, and only 30,000 whites. Every Radical in the State voted for him; for to them it was "life," and such, in fact, was the case. Every negro, with a little, and with his rascally militia to aid him, he got but 10,000 more white votes than Etheridge did! In 1844, when Polk and Clay ran for the Presidency, Tennessee had 120,000 votes; the population has largely increased enough since then—twenty-three years—to permit her now to count a white vote of at least 200,000, besides the 45,000 negro votes. This being so, it is very evident that Brownlow got but about one-seventh of the white men in this State to vote for him. All who would vote for him did vote for him; and he got but one-seventh of his race to vote for him. The others were all disfranchised, or voted for Etheridge; and Brownlow may truly be called the first nigger Governor Tennessee ever had. He will be the last. The alarm has been sounded, and the North is "up and doing"—have we been awaiting the North to speak! It has spoken; and in November the tornado will come. Then, reinforced, impressed and bound, Brownlow will be swept from power, with his crew and his hounds to judgment. They have trifled with the rights of better men long enough. Let the people speak once more; and let them calmly and quietly call conventions in every county in this Radical-cursed State. Let all vote in these conventions who voted under our old Constitution; and let us proclaim it to be what, in fact, it was, since the adoption of the fourteenth amendment. Let us have a general convention, remodel our Constitution, submit it to the people, elect a new Governor and a new Legislature, and inaugurate a state of things that will have some respect for white men and their civil and political rights.

This convention should be started in Tennessee because she was the first and only Southern State so cursed with Radicalism as to forget her regard for constitutional liberty, and to confer upon her three hundred thousand niggers. It is proper that Tennessee should lead in the work of restoring to her Southern sisters that they must exercise this same right of remedying similar evils soon to be visited on them. And why should we not have a convention of the people? Will the present Legislature ever call one? Will they or their friends in office be willing to "jolt" and never call a convention of the people? Not they. They are afraid of the "people." That is the last tribunal to which they will ever appeal. They know the verdict that would await them. They, the people, must call this convention themselves. The first line, in the bill of rights, authorizes them to "alter, reform or abolish" their Government whenever they shall think proper, and that is the only way to "reform" Brownlow's infernal usurpations. If we dare not do it thus, it will never be done, and his minions will never consent to call a convention of the people, which can but sweep them from power with execrations and curses. Sound the trumpet. Let us ask what we have to lose, and tyranny falls in this State, as the leaves fall when frost comes. There is a monstrous Johnson organ in your city, but is it not for Brownlow, and Congress, and Judge Trigg, and Nicholas? It has always been a curious sheet—half dem—half any thing you may fancy. I see we are with you for a convention.

You know his owner hops went for; and once went to a convention, in the winter of 1857-8. He then did not think it particularly necessary to call county conventions; but one for Shelby was held in some office in Memphis, and he and Ryder and several other small fry, went to Nashville and "remodeled the Constitution." Will he go for a convention to get the State out of Brownlow's hands? Possibly. Shelbyville, Lewisburg, Johnson, I fear he and his friends are two Radical at heart to go against Brownlow, Richard, Ryder, Beaumont and Jim Davis. We shall see. Time this—and in thirty days more that paper must take one side or the other for a "reorganized" State" is a foregone conclusion. SHILOH.

FRIDAY, : : : : : : : OCTOBER 18, 1867

It is not our province—nor is it our wish to be considered the censor of the Bulletin—to object to any wayward fancy to which it may incline. Of its tergiversations, many and mixed though they be, its readers, to the extent that it has readers, are sufficiently aware, without our repeating them. Nor do we feel the slightest degree of resentment at its more than occasional displays of vanity and self-complacency. But we do not think it proper to pass by unnoticed its repeated efforts recently revived, to misconstrue the history of parties in the past, as it were, to bring about the ruin just such misconstruction and undying hostility to the great National Democratic party, brought upon the country, when the Philadelphia assemblage fizzled out, being led by just such haters of the very name of Democrat, as inspired the leading article in the second column of yesterday's Bulletin. To make good what we say we annex a brief extract:

The Philadelphia Convention organized a party on a platform that commended itself to every lover of constitutional liberty. It was a platform on which moderate men of all parties could unite, and on which they confidently anticipated an easy and assured victory. But while the patriots composing that Convention were organizing for victory at Philadelphia, there was another political gathering in New York city. It was composed of men who loved party more than country. It was leading New York Democrats, who insisted upon it that a Democrat, pure and simple, should be the Conservative candidate for Governor in that State, and that all, however they might agree with them in the main issues of the canvass, that were not Democrats, should take back seats! These leaders announced Hoffman, then Mayor of New York, as their candidate, and they would take no steps backward. They refused to have Dix, a moderate Conservative Republican, as their standard bearer, and they ignored any other name than that of Democrat! Here, then, was practical opposition to Conservative success, and it resulted, as it was foretold it would result, in utter failure!

Not that we consider that it makes any real difference, or is at all important, from the history of the Bulletin's past career, but we shall take the trouble to subject this to the test of analysis. The first thing attempted by the Philadelphia Convention was to demand the exclusion of VALLANDIGHAM and WOOD. It was not quite successful, but those distinguished Democrats did not disturb its harmony. Vindicating their high character, they retired, leaving the Convention to proceed as its manipulators might determine. Democrats were asked to take "back seats," and complied. RAYMOND, of the New York Times, who had been instrumental in getting up the Convention was chief cook and bottle washer. He concocted the hash and ladled it out to the faithful. The Democrats partook of the love feast in respectful silence, and thought it was a sacrament. They were frank, honest and patriotic, and stood ready to co-operate in any and every honorable effort to throw off the incubus that was riding down and crushing the very life and soul of the nation. Were they met with a like frankness and patriotism? Assuredly not. Having taken "back seats" in the Convention at Philadelphia, they were expected to take "back seats" everywhere else, at the command of a paltry few whose patriotism dwelt in their pockets, and whose conservatism was suppliant to their ambition. They did not object to the "platform, on which moderate men of all parties could unite," because, like bread pills, if it could not cure, it was as powerless to kill. Like the Pariahs who are now without suffrage in the places of their nativity, who cannot vote although required to pay taxes, the Democracy were to quietly and coldly look on, and see the inheritance they had enjoyed, and were worthy to enjoy, divided among a set of cormorants whom they might help to their wish, but with whom they were forbidden to share. Compared to the Democracy, the other elements of opposition to Radicalism was as a grain of sand to the millions of atoms on the seashore. These "very small potatoes and few in a hill," claimed, as it is now claimed by the writer in the Bulletin, that a right to name a candidate, by the Democracy, was not in the bargain, and to assert it was to break the compact and furnish the Conservative Radicals sufficient excuse to get back under the wings of the old buzzard, from which they had sneakingly emerged to purvey for themselves. They were indeed birds of prey, and easily frightened back to their filthy eyrie. In New York, where the Democrats outnumbered the self-styled Conservatives, hundreds to one, as they had a right, named for Governor a distinguished citizen who had always been true to them, distinguished for his integrity, distinguished for his ability and attainments, his high and honorable bearing, and his great and deserved popularity. He would have been triumphantly elected if the base deserters of the Philadelphia platform had not incontinently fled and rejoined the Radicals, from whom they had only recently separated.

They were, like the writer of the Bulletin, frightened at the name of Democrat. He was the shadow, and it was the light of impudence to insist that he should give way for DIX or any other man. These Conservatives (miserable creatures like little RAYMOND) would have placed the Democrats in a similar category to that which the Radicals of Tennessee placed their negro instruments—they might vote the ticket, and it was their duty to do so, but they should not be candidates for office! This is the whole, unvarnished history of the matter, and the facile writer, whose hate of everything Democratic sets him to retching like one who has surfeited himself with bad whisky, endeavors by repetition to distort it to subserve the purpose of his hate. We agree with the Mobile Register:

The Democratic party is twin born with the United States Constitution. They must die together, for one cannot survive the other. The party of the Constitution must live with the Constitution, and it is because the Democratic is such a party that it has survived all other political organizations in this country, and is as vital to-day as it was sixty years ago. And it is the party that is going, now, to render its latest and best service to the nation—it is going to save its Government and rescue its liberties, and the instrument that enshalms them, from the violent hand of its enemies and would-be destroyers.

Now that the political skies are beginning to brighten over our Western world, it is meet and proper for every honest man, every true lover of the land he lives in, to take heart of hope, and "lay himself out" to give his best energies to the work of redeeming the country from the fell dominion of its usurping, blood-sucking, wholesale-stealing, Constitution-destroying oppressors. The time, thank Heaven! has at last arrived, when every true man may hold up his head in the light of returning reason, truth and justice, and oppose with all the energy of a just, a righteous indignation, the revolutionary and oppressive course of the party called Radical—the most hopelessly corrupt and utterly abandoned political organization the world has ever known, or, if God be merciful, will ever know. It is not, indeed, a party, but a faction, so utterly wasting is it in every element of common decency and respectability. If it has any respectable members, the world does not know them. If it ever had any honest leaders, they are dead, or have been ipso facto expelled. This Radical faction is simply a band of political assassins and public plunderers, of whom blaspheming BROWNLOW, the beast BUTLER, and that devil incarnate THAD. STEVENS, are the genuine types and head men—the truest representatives and most acceptable leaders. This faction habitually tramples upon the Constitution, in and out of Congress, and plumes itself upon the fatal profanation! It prostituted the fair genius of civil liberty to the basest ends of subjugation and revenge, and then ruthlessly stabbed her to the heart in the capitol of the Union, in the sight of an affrighted nation, and in the presence of the people's representative—the President—whom, by their devilish acts, they had first rendered powerless for her protection. It now stands with the same instrument of murder yet reeking with the blood of Constitutional freedom, ready drawn, to plunge to the very vitals of an already bound and bleeding South. Possessing itself by fraud and violence of the legislative branch of the Government, it is using every effort to perpetuate its usurpation of despotic power so that it may the more effectually work out its mad revenges in the Africanization and utter ruin of the Southern States. It makes open sale of all offices of honor or profit, municipal, State and national, wherever it has the upper hand. It makes a job of every public work or contract, and, indeed, of almost every act of legislation, wherever it can command a "working majority"—thus swallowing up the substance of the people to enrich the base leaders of faction, big and little—the captains of fifties, of hundreds and of thousands. It has so shaped the legislation of Congress as not only to relieve the rich Radical holders of the gold-bearing interest bonds from taxation, but it has taxed the poor—the toiling millions of the country, to pay that interest, and bear the whole crushing burden of the public debt. It has, in a word, organized and introduced into the national, State and municipal governments of this country, wherever it bears sway, a system of corruption at which Patriotism stands appalled; a system which, for unblushing roguery and downright, wholesale stealing, has not been equalled in the world since the advent of civilization. No such hideous combination of fanaticism and corruption should be longer tolerated in a country that boasts itself the model Republic of all the world. Assuredly it could never hope for voice, or influence, or fellowship, of any true Southern man. For ourselves we are free to declare that we are not of those of the oppressed who feel like licking the hand of the oppressor—the hand that continues to smite the foe fallen in honorable combat. We cannot even feel indifferent, but must, of necessity, hate so foul and miserable a faction with a hatred that naturally grows more intense with each new act of daily and hourly oppression. The Almighty Ruler of us all is a God of Truth, of Piety and Justice. HE, therefore, requires such antipathy at our hands; and until HE shall see fit to change the eternal standards of right and wrong, it will be the duty of every honest man to detest and make war upon the American Radicals—those assassins of liberty and enemies of mankind. To hate Radicalism and labor for its overthrow, is to worship God!

On Thursday, the 17th instant, by the Rev. Dr. J. O. Steadman, at the residence of Amos Woodruff, Esq., Miss SALLIE M. WOODRUFF to Mr. FRANK D. BANNON.

OBITUARY.

DIED.—On Wednesday morning, the 16th of October, 1867, at the residence of her husband, MRS. KATE AMONATI, wife of J. L. Amonati, Esq.

Never before have the writers ventured upon the solemn and mournful task of paying public tribute to the buried dead, but in this case our relations to the bereaved husband, and his intimate acquaintance of one of us with the deceased wife, will not permit us to be silent witnesses of this new descent into the chamber of death.

Apparently in the enjoyment of vigorous health, with the promise of a long life of usefulness, and surrounded by whatever would conduce to its continuance, the summons of death came, without note of warning, into this peaceful home, and to her friends it was as startling as the trumpet of battle to a sleeping army. But health, happiness and comfort were less sufficient to secure her; nor could the love of a devoted husband protect her against the pestilence "that walketh in darkness and wasteth at noonday." With noiseless step it passed the threshold of the unsuspecting family, and with quick and violent haste made a victim of her whose life was the golden bowl therein.

It is sad, always and everywhere, this rude separation of friends, but it is especially so when the affection of the husband cannot submit to yield his hold upon the ever watchful and never wearying love of the wife; and innocent children plead sweetly and piteously for the nursing care of the mother.

But she is gone! And time, as it afforded no protection against this great misfortune, can offer no balm for her wounds; a higher power only can afford this. Yet, to us there is left the memory of her many virtues, and of her may it be truly said in the words of Divine inspiration, "Her children arise up and call her blessed, her husband also and he praiseth her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all. Favor is deceitful and beauty is vain, but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her in the gates."

Public Sale

OF

300 ACRES SUBURBAN LAND

ON TEN YEARS' CREDIT.

I PROPOSE to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder on THURSDAY, the 14th of November, 1867, about three hundred acres Fresh Land Forest Land, on my Homestead Tract, situated three miles east of Memphis, at the head of Union avenue, and lying between Central avenue and the Old State Line road. The most popular street pavements being now in process of construction in Memphis, good springs, numerous railways on the roads leading from the city directly through this property, insure soon future demand and rapid enhancement of value.

In stating the advantages of this property, I would especially refer to the HEALTH of the locality as having been always considered equal if not superior to that of any portion of the city environs; while the high character of the neighborhood, and the provisions made for LITERARY AND CHURCH PRIVILEGES, combine to render it one of the most desirable portions of Shelby county. It is the only known soap which will wash flannels with the ease of cotton or linen without falling or shrinking. All those important properties can be observed in the use of the skin of the most delicate fabric. It possesses no deleterious quality whatever. The world is challenged to produce any article of equal merit. Its purity and powerful detergent qualities are unequaled and unsurpassed. It is manufactured exclusively in Memphis, and its use is rapidly spreading throughout the South, and eventually will extend over the United States North and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceanica. GALLAWAY, REEA & CLUSKEY.

PERSONAL.—Our fellow citizens, J. R. S. Gilliland and R. C. M. McDowell, left for Nashville last evening on matters of business. Their absence will be brief, and they have our best wishes for a successful as well as pleasant trip.

RACES.—At the Memphis trotting park, we understand there is to be an exciting match, on Saturday, but we have not heard the particulars.

BOLD THEFT.—Yesterday morning at an early hour, a heavy box of assorted dry goods, marked "Meyer & Kahn, Vicksburg," was rolled out of a stairway in the Mosby block, by a couple of negro thieves, and placed on a dray. While en route to a place of safety, it was discovered by a police man and taken possession of.

NURSES COMING.—Father Powers, of our city, received a telegram yesterday evening from Bishop Feehan, at Nashville, that three Sisters, to nurse the sick, would leave Cincinnati for Memphis Friday morning, and that more would follow soon. This is good news indeed, for the patient care, watchfulness and tenderness of the Sisters in a sick room is proverbial.

OFFICIAL MORTUARY REPORT.—For twenty-four hours ending at five p.m., October 17, there have been nine interments from yellow fever. Twenty-eight new cases reported for twenty-four hours. I will be obliged to the physicians who cannot make it convenient to attend the meeting of the Board of Health to-day, to send in their reports of new cases before twelve o'clock.

W. E. ROBERTS, M. D.
Sec'y Board of Health.

THE WEATHER.—The weather yesterday was quite warm for the season, and the right sort to furnish additional material for sickness. After nightfall a damp, heavy mist enveloped the earth, while the temperature of the atmosphere was much too warm for frost. Hoary Jack would meet with a hearty welcome at this time, for with his advent Yellow Jack disappears. We cannot expect it, however, while the present warm spell continues.

MELANCHOLY CHRONICLE.—It pains us to record the deaths within a very few days of Marling B. Jones, Esq., of the firm of Jones, Brown & Co., a native of our city, and a member of commission merchant, and has been a citizen of Memphis for twenty years. John L. Taylor, dry goods merchant; Major Longley, of the firm of Mulholland & Longley; Mr. Knode, and Dr. Erskine, Rev. G. A. Davis, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the latter reported dead, but we hope and trust it is not so), are said to be very ill. Several others of our well known citizens are said to be on the sick list, and one or two to have died, but we could obtain no particulars.

THE JAPANESE.—The wonderful performances of the Orientals again attracted a considerable audience, last evening. Some of the feats are extraordinary in the highest degree, and well worth seeing at least once. The entertainment will be repeated this evening. The butterfly trick, mounting the ladder of swords, the perch act, and the scaling the wall by the "lady," balanced on the feet of one of the males, were all admirable of their kind. The contortions that created so much diversion on the first evening, was not repeated last night.

Ed. Worsham, 22 Jefferson street, AVALANCHE building, received by last night's mail, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Sporting Times, (with a full account of the prize fight between Bill Davis and Gallagher,) Harper's Weekly, Waverley Magazine, Police News, Police Gazette, Boston Pilot, Banner of Light, New York Ledger, Godey's Lady Book for November, Demorest's Fashion Book for November, Monthly part of Chimney Corner, Broadway Magazine, stationery and blank books.

GOOD CIGARS.—We yesterday smoked some excellent cigars presented by our friend John K. Speed, of the firm of Ed. Burke & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in cigars, No. 4 Bradley block. We were surprised, after testing the superiority of the cigar, to learn that they are sold by this firm for the nominal sum of $18 50 per thousand—a great deal less than former prices and on a par with New York and Baltimore markets. If you don't believe what we say, read their advertisement in another column and then go and see for yourself.

OUR SCHOOLS.—A Memphis correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial makes incidental mention of the public schools:

"These schools, as now managed, are costly institutions. It seems, from a recent report of the superintendent, that each pupil costs the city seventy-five dollars for tuition. There is rough plundering somewhere, or egregious mismanagement."

We do not know the correspondent, or who he may be, or that there is truth in the assertion, but present the foaming paragraph that it may meet the eye of those most interested.

EMMONS & SON, No. 11 Jefferson and 308 Main, have received the New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Banner of Light, American Artisan, Boston Pilot, Sunday Times, La Crosse Democrat, Police News, Police Gazette, Frank Leslie, Army and Navy Journal, American Union, True Flag, London Daily Times, Round Table, Southern Society, Young America, Merryman's Monthly, Demorest's Magazine, Godey's Ladies' Book for November, Waverley Magazine, and dailies from everywhere; also, a fine lot of writing paper and envelops, and blank books of all kinds. Call and examine their stock.

A STUMBLING BLOCK.—Our progress was arrested while passing along Second street, shortly after dusk last evening, just in front of the Baptist church, by an impediment in the shape of a mass of humanity lying sprawling directly across the pavement, with arms thrown widely out, face downward, and hat several feet distant. Numerous people paused in their walk to look at the pile of flesh, then circled around and went on. At first we supposed the man was dead, but upon feeling his pulse he was discovered to be only dead drunk, and he was so reported at the police station near by, where he was soon after carried and stowed to sober up. He will give an account of his eccentric conduct, and how he came so, this morning, before Commissioner Richards.

THE BLUE LINE.—This is the name of the transportation line, of which Larry Harmstad & Co. are now giving through bills of lading. It is a line which has had the confidence of shippers, and will maintain it. Cotton over this line goes by river to Cairo, and from thence by rail, without change, to New York, Boston and all Eastern cities. This line has a reputation second to none for speed and reliability; and cotton shipped by it reaches its destination in as good condition as when it leaves our bluff. Shippers all remember the promptness with which cotton went forward over the line last season, and this year it will be still more efficient as a carrier. Rates are as low as by any other route. Call on Larry Harmstad & Co., corner Main and Madison streets.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—The audience last evening was small, but those who were present had the privilege of enjoying a delicious repast in Lady Don's charming acting and exquisite singing. This evening will be presented the new and very popular comedy of "Caste," with Lady Don as Polly Eccles, a character in which she appears to great advantage.

A word for the New Memphis. It is one of our city's institutions, and pays largely to the revenue of the city. The manager, Mr. Thompson, is a gentleman, and conducts his theatre with great propriety and judgment. He is a good citizen. The money paid him for the entertainment he affords by introducing the most meritorious theatrical "stars," is again distributed among us. The stories people rarely hoard up much money, and the accumulation of one week is generally disbursed the next. We say this much because our people are prone to go after wandering minstrels and other "will o' the wisp" novelties. Remember, to-night is set apart for Lady Don's farewell benefit.

NEW RULE OF PRACTICE IN BANKRUPTCY.—The following rule was ordered by Judge Trigg on Wednesday, to be added to the rules of practice in bankruptcy in this district: Rule 11—In case no choice of an assignee is made by the creditors at their meeting, or in case an assignee chosen by the creditors fails within five days to express in writing his acceptance of the trust, or in case of vacancy in the position of assignee, caused by removal, death or otherwise, Wm. Y. Cirode, of the city of Memphis, will be appointed assignee, and when such Cirode shall be appointed by any and when such appointment is hereby approved by the Judge, of any special case and vacancy in the office of assignee, filled, by an election of the creditors, by appointment of an assignee other than above named.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.—A few weeks ago a young gentleman of this city, inspired by true philanthropy, and prompted by the impulse of a most benevolent heart, conceived the expediency of forming a Howard Association in this city on the plan and principles of that long established and far famed institution of benevolence at New Orleans bearing the same name. With firm and resolute purpose he entered upon his mission. His earnestness enlisted a few sympathizers, who were willing to form the nucleus of so excellent an association, which, though it might not be needed then, might at some time find a great auxiliary in mitigating the terrors of disease, and ministering to the wants of the needy and distressed in the hour of their sore trials. As it was not to be ephemeral in its nature, but as perennial as its great purpose should be in every heart, the foundation of this organization pursued his object as they only do who are intent on revenge, or are blest with the ordaining nerve of martyrs. Some even affected to ridicule the idea, as the proposed explorations of the great navigator were deemed visionary until he had discovered a continent. After weary months of vicissitude and frequent mutiny, before which weaker nerves would have shrunk, unmistakable evidences of approach to land were observed on the foam-crested waves, and Columbus beheld from the prow of the Pinta, like a phantom city, Guanahani from the wide waste of the sea. And thus, buffeting opinion, and baffling the recusant by his energy, Robert W. Ainslie, unaided, and with a few, generous, generous hearts, stemming the wave of controversy, drew together a small band, and the Howard Association of Memphis was organized, by most appropriately making him their first President, an office the duties of which he has since discharged with all the native energy of his character, and now it can justly claim to be second to only one in our country's broad domain. Its usefulness has been incalculable—its ministrations wherever want was apparent and good might follow. Many a sick couch is the constant attentions have relieved of half its bitterness, and with the means derived from the liberal co-operation of our citizens, those appliances so indispensable in illness, have been brought to the bedside of the sufferer, and moistened his parched lips, and bathed his burning brow, through the instrumentality of the "Howards," foremost among whom, at all times, has been Mr. Ainslie. If the ambition to do good deserves a personal wreath, he deserves to wear it.

A Local Government Fracture-ized.

Agreement Among the Merchants.

Regulation of Business Hours.

We were called upon yesterday by several of our most intelligent and long established merchants, desiring that we should contribute our aid in recommending, and impressing the expediency and propriety of closing business houses as early as five p.m., and opening them at nine a.m. This will give eight hours for the transaction of business, and will not require the services of young men engaged, either too early after a sleepless night in watching the sick, or detain them beyond the time when it might become necessary to prepare for such vigil. Many of the young gentlemen, and some of the older ones, are enrolled in the Howard Association, and are subject to a call when their services are required. We do not think there will be any serious opposition to this humane movement, dictated by the purest and most generous considerations. It is a co-operative movement with that self-sacrificing and noble resolve which casts aside all personal fear, or minor considerations, to protect the weak and succor the helpless and needy. The steamboats and roads have generally closed their business hours by five o'clock p.m. and it seems to us there is nothing so pressing that an earlier hour than nine o'clock in the morning would be required to meet it. In the busiest season, such concession to the dictates of humanity might be anticipated; then with how much more certainty may it not be counted on, when there is in fact so little, comparatively, to do, and which can be easily crowded into the eight hours intervening. The adage that "the early bird catches the worm" does not, or should not, apply at this time, but may be stored away among other useful receipts for better times and more propitious days. Our merchants will be called upon to unite in the arrangement, and if aught more be necessary, let a general meeting be called at the Chamber of Commerce, the Mayor presiding, where uniformity of action may be urged and agreed upon. No great length of time will now elapse before the unlucky spell that hovers over portions of our devoted city will pass away, and then all necessity of pursuing longer this laudable arrangement will go with it.

MEMPHIS, October 16, 1867.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: You say, speaking of the prevalence of disease, that "it is natural that physicians should disagree as to the nature of the disease prevailing here at present." Upon that assertion the intelligent portion of the community will take issue with you. Yellow fever is a well defined disease; the symptoms are prominent and decided, and no well read man, whether physician or not, can possibly mistake that disease for any other, or any other for that. There are in this city "careless" doctors, as well as "briefless" lawyers. The presence of the former class of ignorant quacks, and their attempt to make capital by a systematic course of misrepresentation, if not stoppage to the progress of the principal cause of the panic that prevailed on Monday, and yet prevails to a limited extent. This miserable subterfuge on their part will cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars, to say nothing of the anxiety of mind, and absolute discomfort and suffering of many who have left the city, with little means, and some no doubt in straitened circumstances. People in the country will take advantage of these pleas, and charge those seeking accommodations for a few weeks, double and treble what they would charge under other circumstances.

We must know that the facts set forth above are incontrovertable. I do not ask you to publish this, but to write a short article yourself upon the subject.

A SUFFERER.

We have few remarks of our own to apply to the above. It has been our anxious wish to allay excitement as much as possible. While we think there was uncommon disfuriosness in getting up a Board of Health, when the city was threatened with cholera, and the appearance of the yellow fever was kept a secret, when it should have been reported, yet it is not for us to question the sincerity, or the attainments of physicians with whose profession we are not familiar, and certain it is not our province to speculate upon the motives by which they are actuated in their practice.

It has been from the first one firm belief that true and faithful reports of the progress of the disease should have been made by the regular constituted Board—not of every case reported by physicians, not of the Board, but those well satisfied. If any particular district were infected, the people should have been moved out of them as soon as practicable, and such sanitary regulations adopted as might promise to protect the rest of the city from the spreading of the disease. All this, however, is of the past, and cannot be rectified now. It has been reduced almost to a certainty that where an epidemic prevails, it stops when there is nothing new for it to feed upon. If the well from the infected districts had been informed in time, they might have removed and many valuable lives been spared. Let the minds of the people be educated to look danger in the face, and not "away with fear." That can only be done by familiarizing them with the fact that disease is among them, that they should use timely precaution, and that fear and panic but minister to the growth of disease. To keep secret the fact of the presence of an epidemic is criminal. No business or prospect of gain can justify it.

Louisville Races—Third Day.

On Wednesday, at the Woodlawn track, there were two races, one of which, at least was very exciting. In view of the approaching meeting at this place, we give room for the summary which we find in the Louisville Courier of yesterday, that our people who take an interest in such things may form some judgment of the prowess of the horses and skill in their training.

The first race was for a jockey club of $400, two mile heats, free for all ages. Five horses started, viz: Clay's "Plantagenet," Paul's "Counterpoof," Ford's "Frank Wolford," Harper's "Lord Clown" and Alexander's "Alhambra." Clay was the favorite in the pool betting, at small odds, however, for Alexander and Harper had their friends, who backed them nobly.

SUMMARY.

J. M. Clay's ch. c. Plantagenet, 3 years old, by Planet, dam Ideal, by Sir Archy.....1 1
Paul's b. c. Counterpoint, 4 years old, by Colossus, dam by imp. Hyndon.....2 2
John Harper's ch. c. Lowdown, 4 years old, by Wagner, dam by imp. Trumpator.....3 3
Logan Ford's b. f. Frank Wolford, 3 years old, by Richard Gaut Peasley, by imp. Glencoe.....5 4
Alexander's ch. c. Alhambra, 3 years old, by Lexington, dam Amanda, by imp. Glencoe.....4 dis.
Time—2:41, 2:40½, 2:47½, 2:50½.

THE SECOND RACE.—This was a sweepstakes race, single dash of a mile, twenty-five dollars entrance, p.p. to play the proprietors adding one hundred dollars. Seven horses started, viz.: Alexander's Spinola, Graves' Jessamine Porter, Bissicks' Hazard and Pat Malloy, Ferris' Billy, and J. E. Farris' Roger Hanson.

In bringing them up for a start, Bissicks' Hazard took his rider around the course, running three quarters of a mile before he could be brought on the second attempt he repeated this exploit, thus running two miles on his own hook.

They finally got off, with the irrepressible Hazard in the lead, which place he surrendered, on the back stretch, to Harper and Pat Malloy. These two nags contended for the race, leaving their competitors scattered along behind. Harper, however, won the heat, by about a neck. Time, 1:46.

FURNISHING HOUSE.—"Better late than never" is a saying, but one that has its virtue. Prone as we all are to procrastinate, it saves us from total, which may appear wanton, negligence. We are about to do something we should have done sooner, but here comes to our assistance the time honored saw quoted. About the first of the month our friend, R. B. Mitchell, Esq., announced his withdrawal from the house with which he had been associated, to connect himself with that of Walker Brothers & Co., No. 225 Main street, but amid the many cares by which we have been surrounded we entirely overlooked a duty we owed a most genial and courteous gentleman, who occupies a high position in society, and needs must bring strength to any establishment with which he connects himself. Large hearted and experienced, with a most extensive acquaintance, who has appreciated his integrity and liberal dealings in times past, there can be doubt he will be followed by troops of friends to his new place of business—a most extensive wholesale establishment with a superb and complete stock of dry goods, boots, shoes, clothing and furnishing goods. We congratulate Messrs. Walker Brothers on this accession, and Mr. Mitchell upon his connection with so "stanneh and" true a house.

Black, Cameron & Co., have removed to No. 8 Adams street, opposite the Worsham House. 3t

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.—A few weeks ago a young gentleman of this city, inspired by true philanthropy, and prompted by the impulse of a most benevolent heart, conceived the expediency of forming a Howard Association in this city on the plan and principles of that long established and far famed institution of benevolence at New Orleans bearing the same name. With firm and resolute purpose he entered upon his mission. His earnestness enlisted a few sympathizers, who were willing to form the nucleus of so excellent an association, which, though it might not be needed then, might at some time find a great auxiliary in mitigating the terrors of disease, and ministering to the wants of the needy and distressed in the hour of their sore trials. As it was not to be ephemeral in its nature, but as perennial as its great purpose should be in every heart, the foundation of this organization pursued his object as they only do who are intent on revenge, or are blest with the ordaining nerve of martyrs. Some even affected to ridicule the idea, as the proposed explorations of the great navigator were deemed visionary until he had discovered a continent. After weary months of vicissitude and frequent mutiny, before which weaker nerves would have shrunk, unmistakable evidences of approach to land were observed on the foam-crested waves, and Columbus beheld from the prow of the Pinta, like a phantom city, Guanahani from the wide waste of the sea. And thus, buffeting opinion, and baffling the recusant by his energy, Robert W. Ainslie, unaided, and with a few, generous, generous hearts, stemming the wave of controversy, drew together a small band, and the Howard Association of Memphis was organized, by most appropriately making him their first President, an office the duties of which he has since discharged with all the native energy of his character, and now it can justly claim to be second to only one in our country's broad domain. Its usefulness has been incalculable—its ministrations wherever want was apparent and good might follow. Many a sick couch is the constant attentions have relieved of half its bitterness, and with the means derived from the liberal co-operation of our citizens, those appliances so indispensable in illness, have been brought to the bedside of the sufferer, and moistened his parched lips, and bathed his burning brow, through the instrumentality of the "Howards," foremost among whom, at all times, has been Mr. Ainslie. If the ambition to do good deserves a personal wreath, he deserves to wear it.

RIVER NEWS.

AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, October 18.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Weather extremely warm, with a steady decline in the river and little improvement in the channel. The packets report four and one-half feet from here to Cairo, and five and one-half feet to St. Louis. The Ohio is receding, with twenty-six inches on the bars in the lower Ohio. White river continues low, with three feet at Little Island. The Arkansas remains at low tide, with the channel cutting out slowly. The last boat out reports twenty-seven inches to Pine Bluff.

ARRIVALS.

Steamer Adam Jacobs, St. Louis.

DEPARTURES.

Steamer Michigan, Evansville.
" Ozark, White river.
" Adam Jacobs, St. Louis.
" Starlight, Cairo.

IN PORT.

Guidon, Michigan, Ozark.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business on the wharf yesterday was fair, with but one arrival, the Adam Jacobs. She came in with a fair cargo, which she discharged, and returned to St. Louis with 330 bales of cotton.

The Ozark cleared for White river with a good trip.

The Victor No. 2 was sold yesterday by Captain House to Messrs. Sim & Co. for the Red river trade. Price paid, $4,000. She has recently been repaired and repainted, and leaves for New Orleans on Saturday to enter into her new field of service.

The Goldfinch, in command of Captain Karr, will be here on Monday to ply regularly in the Memphis and Ocesola trade. She leaves here on her first trip for the bends on Tuesday next. The Goldfinch is a neat little boat, and will make a suitable packet.

Died, of the prevailing fever, on Wednesday night, October 16th, Alex. Cook, aged thirty years; and his remains were deposited in Elmwood Cemetery yesterday, at two o'clock p.m., attended by numerous relatives and friends. There was no one in Memphis better known or more universally respected and esteemed. And in New Orleans and all along the Arkansas river his acquaintance was extensive, and with acquaintance grew up friendships. He had been a steamboat clerk for several years, and won the cordial esteem of all with whom he was engaged. In respect to his memory the boats in port, yesterday, displayed their flags at half mast. He was our friend. We had traveled life's journey many leagues together, in sunshine and in shade, and a warmer and more generous spirit never entered the breast of man than swayed his every action. Brave as the bravest, but gentle as the tenderness of woman, generous, noble in every thought, and genial, it was his greatest enjoyment to contribute to that of others and see them happy. Death has sent his shaft at a shining mark, and memory now enshrines the virtues he has stricken down.

"Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my b ter days;
None k ew thee but to love thee,
None named thee but to praise."

How mute is language to express the deep regrets we feel—how vainly we endeavor to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of our friend! Deep in our heart that memory dwells. There too will rest his well remembered features evermore.

"Death should come
Gently to one of gentle mild like thee,
As light in autumn sheds a pensive g oom,
Detach the delicate blossoms from the tree."

Sleep in thy quiet rest, where sleep the young and beautiful, the bold and brave. When spring shall strew their graves with immortelles, the tear of affection, the blossom of friendship shall fall on thine.

ARRIVALS.

The H. M. Shreve, Captain Carter, will leave the city wharf boat to-day, at five p.m., for Vicksburg and the bends.

The John S. McCune, Captain Duffer, is advertised to leave this day at five p.m., for White river.

The superb passenger steamer Rubicon, in command of the urbane and courteous Captain Blake, will leave the city wharf boat to-day, at five p.m., for Cairo and St. Louis. Mr. Alf. Grierson, a genial and clever gentlemen, presides in the office.

The Gleaner, Captain John Fenwick, will be found at the wharf this morning, ready to receive for Pine Bluff and way points, and will leave on Saturday.

The Starlight left last night for Cairo, where she will probably rest for awhile, until there is more water in the Ohio.

The Rowena, Captain John Davis, is the regular Saturday White river United States mail packet. She will be found at the wharf to-day.

The Dan Able, Captain James Lee, with Billy Fields in the office, is the regular Saturday Vicksburg and bends packet. She will be found in port this morning.

The Michigan cleared for Louisville last evening with a few bales of cotton.

The Ned Tracy, Captain Crane, is the packet for Cairo and St. Louis to-day at five p.m.

The President of the Vicksburg Packet Company has closed a contract with the Department for two mails per week, between Vicksburg and New Orleans. Compensation, $25,000 per year, or $50,000 for three trials.

The Vicksburg Times of Tuesday says:

As an evidence of the extreme low water at this place, we notice a considerable portion of the hull of an old steamer, said to be the first Magnolia, exposed to view at the stern of the Gladiator wharfboat. Old pilots say she has not been seen before for years. We hope both the above and the City of Madison wreck will soon be removed, as they present anything but an inviting appearance to steamboats landing at the wharf, or, rather, at the bank.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, October 18, 1867.

The financial market continues to rule string-ent, with no change worthy of notice. The discount market rules firm—first class paper ruling at 10@12 per cent; commercial at 15 per cent. Short loans on the streets command 2@3 per cent. a month.

Gold was steady; buying at 142@142½. Silver rules firm at 138@144 for large pieces to round lots.

EXCHANGE.—Was in fair supply; buying at ¼ off and selling at ¼ premium.

CITY SCRIP.—Does not seem to have yet found a resting place, but was at all events buying, and asking, to-day.

COUNTY SCRIP.—Buying rate 75@80; selling nominal.

POLICE SCRIP.—Buying rate 75@80; selling rate 75@80; selling 80; not much doing.

STATE SCRIP.—Is nominal and inactive. Dealers bid as follows: For bonds of '7 issuance, old issue, 80; Bank of West Tennessee, 80; Bank of Memphis, 80; Gayoso, 80; Bank of Northwestern, 80; City Bank, 80; Merchants' Bank, 80; Northern, 80; Bank of Commerce, 80; Farmers' Bank, 80; Union Bank, 80; Shelby ville Bank, 80; Bank of Tennessee, 80; Farmers' Bank, 80; Bank of Knoxville, 80; Commercial Bank, 80; Bank of Memphis, 80; Bank of Virginia, 80; Citizens' Bank, 80; Life and General Insurance Bank, 80; Union Bank of Columbia, 80; Bank of the Valley, 80; Bank of Paris, 80.

To pay the interest on the 5-20 bonds, which falls due on the 1st of November, $80,000 in coin will be required at New York. There will be $17 409 31 of it disbursed.

We find in the Mirror of the 5th inst., the following remarks on the proposed payment of the gold-bearing debt in legal tender notes, as viewed from a British standpoint:

"About a month since we copied from a Boston paper an extract that purported to be a subscription held at Washington to raise private funds to pay the principal and interest of the United States Government bonds in "national currency," instead of in gold, as previously understood, by the purchasers in "American gold." We have since hesitated to express our opinion that the responsibility of paying the principal of the United States Government, not wishing to do injustice to a portion of the community which, although great, have been severely tested during the past five years of their history, and which have come together in the general council of either the wisdom of the nickel-and-dime party, or the legislative, under which name it was created; but in our position the duty devolves upon us of expressing our belief that the payment of the bonds in paper will seriously affects not only English capitalists generally, but the numerous private families of different nationalities who hold only a great British name. We have also considered it our duty to say that the "financial question" is to be settled by one in favor of the payment of the principal, if not before, and further regret to say that the question of specie payments is not to be settled on the of those securities, mastering (at the option of the government) the whole question, which has been in part settled by creating a favorite theory with many professional politicians whose influence over the minds of the people is unfortunately great. They say, for instance, that nothing inferring to gold payments can be found on the face of the bonds, or in the body of the coupons. Now of specie payments has been established by the Government, and the bonds are payable in money, as a matter of course, legal tenders. Mr. Chase's scheme, as we understand it, is to pay off the bonds in "most disreputable manner in the world." We do not understand the meaning of the word, but to repudiation of forty to fifty per cent. of their debt. They are virtually so much waste paper to the holders, to their Presidential candidates, and, we are not sure, but eventually by the Government of the National Treasury; and that is why we believe that at an early day these just as British politically, nationally as they are to us financially, will be rendered by the rank and file of the lower orders irretrievably disgraced; for the indications at present at point in this direction.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, October 18, 1867.

Business in leading markets yesterday was steady and quiet, with a small trade doing in plantation supplies. The markets are well supplied, with prices well maintained. Very little stir was perceptible in the markets during the day. Weather extremely warm. Small receipts of cotton.

COTTON.—The market yesterday was quiet, with fair offerings but a limited demand. Prices ruled firm. Transactions for the day foot up small, with sales of middlings at 16@16½c; good middling 17@17½c; low middling 16@c; good ordinary 14@c; ordinary 13c. New York market reported nominal at 13½c. The market here closed with prices unchanged.

300 bales of hay sold on the levee yesterday at $20 per ton. Corn was selling freely at 90 per bushel; new shelled at 80c, and old ruled at 85@90 c.

The Cincinnati Price Current of Chamberer of the 12th inst., says:

The trade drags heavily, and if there were no prospect of anything better, every body would be sorely discouraged. It is very difficult to sell anything at even reasonable prices, and we can hardly imagine what is to become of the stock of trashy, half-rotten, and worthless goods that are now crowding the whole width of this market. For the first time this year the heads of leading houses are beginning to express serious doubts of the character of the offerings, the sales have done a business to-day that would have been considered very good in better way in the case of the rather fine thing in the market proper, but the owners have been waiting for a little change in the hope of finding purchasers hardy enough in the general out-cast of activity; but there can be no good time to sell goods which ch never should have been made. The depression in cotton affects this city greatly, and the tendency is still unfavorable wherever it is felt. Provisions are plenty all through the section.

The new and far-forging goods shows but little activity; sales are mostly made in small lots required to keep up assortments. The jobbing trade is quiet, and the fall trade is not yet fairly in progress. Manufacturers are realizing more readily, and the Eastern, Western and Canadian fairs have given goods more attention than for some years past. Prices, however, are not materially changed since last week, with the important exception of the woolen goods, and these are declining slightly. Staff goods are in moderate demand; millinery goods of fashionable character are in good request at prices ruling for the season, and moderately but low grades are inactive. The auction sales are large, and are taking off considerable of both lines of goods, and large amounts in the aggregate have been placed in hands other than regular dealers. The jobbing trade is somewhat backward in the fall trade, and holders seemed disposed to await the movements of the retail trade in view of their surplus stock before the close of the current season.

Ristori's Husband in a Scrape.

New York (Oct. 6) correspondence of the Louisville Demo crat:

In case you should not know who the Count del Grillo is, let me say that he is the husband of Madame Ristori. Well, what of that, and what of him? Only this little paragraph, which appeared in one of the city papers of last evening:

"THE COUNT DEL GRILLO IN TROUBLE.—Giuliano Capranico, Marquis del Grillo, the husband of Madame Ristori, was arrested this afternoon, by Officers McCarty and Miller, of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, upon complaint of Oliver F. Pafy, of No. 42 West Sixteenth street, charged with privately insulting his wife. Justice Dodge held him to bail to answer."

The Democrat's correspondent, on hunting up further particulars, is informed that the complainant has a very pretty young wife, whose bedroom window commands a rear view of the chamber occupied by Madame Ristori and the Count; also, that the windows of these two chambers are nearly on the same vision; also that it was the custom of Mrs. Pafy to sit at her window and take observations at that of the famous tragedienne, excepting occasionally to catch a glimpse of her, not being in the habit of going to the theater to see her. The Count del Grillo used to sit at the window also, and, as Madame Ristori was usually out at dinner or soi al in the forepart of the day, he usually had the pretty young lady over the way all to himself. The husband of Mrs. Pafy, however, smelt a rat; there was a grand row all round, and the result was the event narrated in the foregoing item. The Count denies the soft impeachment, and says Pafy wants to blackmail him, and that he never had any communication with Mrs. Pafy; nevertheless, as he has been bound over, he will have to satisfy a jury of twelve men, ere long, that he is all right. Madame Ristori, meanwhile, is understood to be giving him a Caudle lecture regularly every night.

Enameling Ladies' Faces.

This is the way it is done: You first apply to the female face divine a wash of elder water, which removes every impurity. This done, you lave the face anew with tepid water, then dry the skin with fine linen till it is perfectly smooth and velvety. You then apply to this surface a perfectly white, a pink white, or a cream white enamel. The real Paris enamel or email de Paris is slightly tinted. It is a paste, and covers the surface smoothly, making it marble-like. This artificial covering, being thick, lasts a long time, but the face must not be washed. In order to remove any impurity from the skin, or rather from the enamel, a small sponge dipped in rose water is used and the enamel carefully restored.

Ristori's face is enameled nightly.

The followers of this fashion are, in England, Miss Burdett Coutts, and the fair lady whose husband refused to pay several thousand pounds for numberless enamelings.

The price for a "permanent enameling" is fifty dollars.

It skillfully done, and the cheek done with a rouge, with a little "fixing up" of eyebrows, you cannot, at night, and a foot or two off, tell an old woman from a young one.

In America the fair Mrs. R. follows this fashion so thouroughly that she coats face, arms and neck with the pearly preparation. She is kept in countenance by the wealthy Mrs. B., and sundry others.

The ladies of the demi monde, however, are the most fervent of the believers in enamel.

A Romantic Life.

It has been truly said that one-half the world has no knowledge of how the other half lives or dies. And it has also been truly said by Josh Billings that when a person gets to going down hill, it seems as if everything had been greased for the occasion:

A few days ago there died in Louisville a woman whose life has been a strange admixture of opulence and indigence. Her name was Therese De Noyer, a native of Monireal, Canada, and descendant of a very old family of that name. She came to Louisville some thirty years ago, being at that time a young lady, to visit some relatives living in the vicinity. While there she moved a great deal in society, and met a man of whom she became enamored and finally eloped with him to New Orleans.

Every inducement was held out by her friends for her return, but she refused to listen to their counsels. To avoid their constant solicitations, and fearing they would go after her, she removed with her paramour to Roatan Island, in the Bay of Honduras, and in time became very wealthy. Her betrayer died there, and she was shortly afterwards stripped of her property by an unprincipled Englishman, and was thrown upon the mercy of the captain of a fruit schooner for a passage to the states. She arrived in New Orleans in 1860, penniless, but has at one time since then been possessed of property in the amount of $100,000; but misfortune again overtook her, and she returned to Louisville at the close of the war, where she has lived in abject poverty. She died at the age of fifty-four, destitute of money or friends. "Such is life."

The Humors of Registration.

The following extract from the letter of a correspondent, writing to the Charleston Mercury, is interesting and amusing:

I was amused the other day at an old colored man; I said to him, that he should go on Saturday and register.

"What for?" said he.

So that you can vote.

"Vote for who?"

"Just any one you wish to vote for, if he is black as ebony."

"Now, massa," said the old man, "I am not gwine to do no such ting. You see, dey done ruint me ready. When dey quit fitin,' I was purty well off. I had sixty dollars in silver, and I had ninety dollars in State bank bills, and I had five hundred dollars in Confedic munny; and now, you see, dey come long here, and set me free, and make all my Confederic munny no count, my State bank bills no count, all my corn gone, but me free, I spose. I begins to eat my silver all dat could by corn—so you see I dun eat my silver smove, smack up, cept one dollar and a quarter my wife have; and here I be free true, no horse, no cow, no hog, munny gone and me old—must now work harder dan I ever work'd before in my life. I am not gwine to register, nor vote, nor do nothin; no I ain't. And if them what's gwine bout registerin, don't be bad off as I is if dey don't soon go to work and make something to eat, I'm fooled. Goodbye, massa—no register, no vote, I'se gwine home."

A Carte de Visite Marriage.

A marriage which excited considerable interest in England, last month, took place in a parish church. The bridegroom was a color sergeant in an infantry regiment, and the bride's brother was a private in the same company. The sergeant, taking a fancy to his comrade, showed him many acts of kindness, and one day in barracks the latter exhibited to his superior the carte de visite of his sister. The sergeant at once became enamored with the likeness, and in a few days placed himself in the hands of a photographer for a carte. This was sent by the brother to his sister, and the portrait appears to have produced a corresponding feeling on the part of the lady. The upshot was that an engagement was made, and the day fixed for the wedding at Chertsey Church; and neither of the parties met until the morning of the wedding.

Notice to the Public.

IN retiring from the Drug business in this city we would give notice that we have sold our interest, together with the Fixtures, &c., &c., of the well known stand, No. 238 Main street, to Dr. R. B. WOOD, to whom we wish a monthly success—to, and after returning our heartfelt thanks to our numerous patrons and friends who have so liberally favored us during our continuation of business, we solicit for our successors a continuance of the same. As to the character and qualifications of our worthy successor in the line of trade, their reputation is too well and favorably known in this city and throughout the country generally for us to say anything we might here state to add thereto. Suffice it to say they are of long and tried experience in the business, and therefore can confidently recommend a continuation of our patronage with this favor.

JOHN A. NIPGEN,
HENRY NATHAN & REAKIRT.

The unsettled business of NIPGEN & REAKIRT and JOHN A. NIPGEN will be settled by either of the old parties at the old stands.

JOHN A. NIPGEN,
NIPGEN & REAKIRT.

To the Public.

In having made themselves purchase and resumed business at the old and well known stand, No. 238 Main street, where we have so often and for so many long years of unsolicited favors, met our old friends and patrons, and as a train of unforseen professional circumstances have shirted us around to our former place of business, it is with feelings of earnest congratulation that we again are prepared to offer to our former patrons and the public generally (a large and well assorted stock of Drugs, Medicines, etc., etc., and, indeed, everything usually kept in a first class Drug Store, to which we are now adding, and will continue to add constantly, fresh supplies of the most staple and choice articles the markets can afford. And as we shall import from foreign markets direct, and from first hand sources, the lowest making this house "one from our of the cost," we would, in return, hold out special inducements to both Wholesale and Retail Dealers in the city and country, to give us a call, examine and price our Stock before purchasing elsewhere, for we are determined, by our close vigilance of the mark-is of this and fo sign countries, as well as with our personal attention, not to in making our p. rchases, so as to be able, both the quality of our Goods and prices, we will defy competition, and to be able to do with any, and even defy competition. Anxiously hoping, however, that these proposals for we intend to make, and to last, may be favorably received, will meet with the hearty concurrence of our old friends and patrons and the community generally. We are very respectfully yours etc.

SECOND DRAWING

OF THE

SOUTHERN ASYLUM LAND CO.

AT HERNANDO, MISS, OCTOBER, 1867

THE FIRST DRAWING, which took place at Hernando Miss., on the 15th instant, was attended with unusual success, when it is remembered that but a few weeks elapsed from the inception of the enterprise to that event. Seventeen thousand dollars worth of lands having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holding friends. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying and satisfactory manner:

We hereby certify, that the above report of he first drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The managers and Company place the tickets and schools under our sole management and control.

LYON'S

PERIODICAL DROPS!

THE GREAT

Female Remedy for Irregularities

I HAVE used these Drops in my own practice over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has yet been discovered to equal them in regulating the female system positively and harmlessly; in cases of female irregularity, as the name indicates, they are a boon. In all cases I never saw thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to them for health to day.

Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions.

They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France, and have proved as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. In the Northern and Western States, were they, as in their native privacy, further time considered, would be justified to sell the past year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers have been benefited, I am aware that a prejudice exists to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that where one lady in these cases, one may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.

Suffering, as they do from any irregularity; painful, difficult, excessive, offensive or obstructed Menstruation, Leucorrhœa, or the truth in Disease that follow, should send up for a bottle of DR. LYON'S FRENCH PERIODICAL DROPS. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, treating on each bottle, accompany each bottle.

They may be obtained of every druggist in the country, or by inclosing the price to C. G. CLARK & CO., New Haven, Conn. Sole Agents, General Agents for the United States.
